ANNUAL REPORT
2010-2011

2010-11 Highlights:

21.5 per cent increase in donations over previous year

$61.9 million invested in child health research, learning and care

$57.9 million to critical initiatives
at SickKids

$4 million for national, international and other initiatives

“I am alive today because of SickKids.” These are words we heard and read many times this year.

community letter

Through our “I’m a SickKids kid” advertising campaign, we invited former and current patients and families to tell us their stories. They responded, in numbers beyond our expectations, with inspiring tales about the difference the Hospital has made in their lives. It was deeply touching for us to be reminded of how SickKids has profoundly affected the lives of so many.

This strong connection to the Hospital translated into a record-breaking year for SickKids Foundation, with donations of $106.8 million. Whether through our Miracle Club monthly giving program, employee group pledges, corporate partnerships, community events or major individual gifts, tens of thousands of people and organizations stepped forward to support our vision: Healthier Children. A Better World. We were particularly inspired by the transformational gift of $30 million from the Garron family for cancer research and care. It is believed to be the single largest philanthropic investment ever made to paediatric cancer in North America. We are deeply grateful to the Garrons and to all of our donors for their outstanding support.

Excellence, integrity and collaboration are the values that underlie the Foundation’s new five-year Strategic Directions, which was approved by the Board of Directors in December 2010. Developed in partnership with the Hospital, our volunteers, staff and donors, the new strategic plan provides the framework to drive future Foundation fundraising and granting activity and enable even greater investments in paediatric care, learning and research. Our thanks to Andrew Sheiner, who chaired the Strategic Directions committee, and to all members of the committee for their fine work.

In May 2010, the Hospital and Foundation broke ground on the $400-million new SickKids Research & Learning Tower and launched a $200-million fundraising campaign, led by Foundation Director Tim Hockey. This new facility provides the space our researchers and scientists need to advance their world-leading research. Since the campaign launch, more than $48 million has been committed from the Hospital and Foundation Boards and employees and from the community. This is an achievement we can all celebrate.

This annual report is full of moving stories about how your support is making a difference. Our heartfelt gratitude for your continued generosity and support of children’s health. You are helping us change our patients’ world so they can change ours.

Yours sincerely,

Patsy Anderson
Chair

Ted Garrard
President & CEO

The future of healthier children starts here.

SickKids Foundation has been inspiring our communities since 1972 to invest in health and scientific advances to improve the lives of children and their families in Canada and around the world. Thanks to generous community support, we invest in research, learning and care at The Hospital for Sick Children to help realize our vision: Healthier Children. A Better World.

local

When our SickKids kids grow up, they become valued members of their communities. They are family, friends, neighbours and colleagues, each with a different story to tell, but they share a common thread: The Hospital for Sick Children.

As a SickKids donor, you make an investment in your community. Your gift contributes to the care our patients receive. You help provide continuous learning for our staff and for future generations of health-care professionals. You fund groundbreaking research that leads to discoveries, new treatments and cures that make an impact worldwide.

Thanks to donors like you, SickKids Foundation is the largest charitable funder of child health research, learning and care in Canada.

national

Through our national grants, SickKids Foundation provides funding across the country to help strengthen Canada's knowledge and capacity to respond to child health needs.

Our grants support young researchers early on in their careers and provide families with access to the most up-to-date information about child health care. Thanks to you, our funding stretches coast to coast to ensure well-trained researchers continue to investigate the most pressing childhood diseases and conditions.

global

Children from around the world travel to SickKids to receive surgical treatment not otherwise available to them. To date, thanks to donations, the Herbie Fund has provided financial support to 656 children from 101 countries.

Our reach goes beyond international patient care. We also provided $900,000 for the Hospital's global humanitarian efforts last year. This support provided training at SickKids for international fellows and advanced our child health projects in countries including Ghana, Ethiopia and Tanzania. Our international programs have reached children in more than 75 countries.

Together we will change their world so they can change ours.

SickKids is so much more than a children's hospital. It is a place of hope for patients and their families, a hotbed for groundbreaking discoveries and a hub for continuous learning and the training of future generations. Founded in 1875, the world-class work of SickKids is driven by the integration of research, learning and care.

research

The 1930s creation of Pablum and its subsequent licensing, along with a visionary gift from the J.P. Bickell Foundation, provided SickKids with the funding to establish the Research Institute. Now the largest child health research institute in Canada, it is a centre for excellence and innovation that places SickKids on the world's stage of health-care expertise. Researchers from around the world are drawn to SickKids to help prevent disease, find cures and transform children's health.

An investment in science at SickKids provides us with the necessary tools to get innovative research out of the lab and put into practice sooner. Our discoveries improve children's health here in Canada and around the world.

learning

From the development of the first school for children at SickKids in 1892, to the creation of Canada's largest training program for child health clinicians and researchers, learning has always been at the heart of everything we do. The SickKids Learning Institute connects our scientific discoveries with our excellent care. The Institute is vital to the role SickKids plays as a world leader and provides the foundation for continuous growth and staff development.

Without your philanthropic gifts, we would not be able to empower the next generation of health-care workers and enable them to be among the best in the world.

care

SickKids specializes in the full range of medical and surgical care for children up to the age of 18. With a focus on providing better health outcomes and a superior experience for patients and their families, we continue to integrate research, learning and care to achieve optimal results. We acknowledge the diversity of our population and work together with patients and their families to recommend the best treatment.

The level of care delivered at SickKids is a true reflection of community-driven philanthropy. It allows for the investment in the tools we need to make the Hospital extraordinary.

The Research & Learning Tower

21 storeys of research breakthroughs taking shape...

The future of healthier children is beginning to take shape at SickKids. After 13 short months, our beacon of research and learning is already reaching into the sky.

The new Research & Learning Tower will stand 21-storeys high and accommodate the most specialized research and learning needs. Designed by Diamond and Schmitt Architects, with HDR Inc., the Tower will, for the first time, provide a single home for all SickKids researchers, allowing them to work together like never before.

Together, we will build this Tower from the ground up. Together, we will push child health research into the future.

The Tower is set for completion in 2013.

The Tower will, for the first time, provide a single home for all researchers at SickKids, allowing them to work together like never before.

Increasingly, leading-edge child health research happens because researchers share ideas. The new building is designed to reflect this growing need. Inside its walls, researchers investigating child health issues will work in close proximity to one another in “neighbourhoods.” Spanning two to three floors and connected by open-concept spaces, these neighbourhoods will encourage interaction and collaboration among researchers to help seed groundbreaking new ideas.

Building on the momentum of The Research & Learning Tower groundbreaking ceremony in May 2010, SickKids Foundation has so far secured more than $48 million in donations towards our three-year, $200-million campaign goal. This investment from donors is the kind of forward thinking that will help propel research and transform children’s health.

NEIGHBOURHOODS

Brain & Behaviour: Researchers here will unravel the secrets of human behaviour, vision, hearing, pain and memory

Organ Systems & Disease: Where scientists will investigate the complex and chronic childhood illnesses that begin before and after birth

Patients, Populations & Policy: Where researchers will improve practice and shape policy by studying health at a broad level

Genetics & Genomics: With the very latest equipment, researchers here will seek to treat and cure diseases with a genetic link

Cancer, Stem Cells & Regenerative Medicine: Researchers here will look for less harmful cures and more effective treatments for the deadliest childhood diseases

Molecules, Therapies, & Infectious Diseases: Where scientists will speed the development of new drugs, so children don’t have to wait a lifetime for a cure

Malachi,
5 – received a new heart

I'm a SickKids kid and a deep sea diver

A place for 'kids with special hearts'

Malachi's heart began to fail before he was born. His mother underwent an emergency C-section to keep him alive. But even the expertise at SickKids couldn't keep his heart from failing again. Malachi got a new heart to keep him alive.

SickKids
performs more than 85 per cent of all paediatric heart surgery
in Ontario

Each summer, 'kids with special hearts', like Malachi, get to join other kids just like them at a week-long, medically supervised camp in Muskoka, Ontario. Camp Oki is run entirely by volunteers from the Labatt Family Heart Centre at SickKids. The Camp is free of charge to patients ages eight through 16 with heart disease.

In 2010, Camp Oki received a $1-million gift from Cardiac Kids and The Firkin Group of Pubs to help make the camp even better. Generous donations like that will help camp founder and SickKids cardiologist, Dr. Joel Kirsh, realize his vision of growing the week-long session into a full summer experience.

While Malachi is still too young to attend Camp Oki, he stays busy brushing up on his swimming, soccer and basketball skills and pays visits to the Heart Centre for checkups. He wants to keep his special heart in shape so he can get the most out of this summer.

Amanda
Turkiewicz, 24 – living with cystic fibrosis

I'm a SickKids kid and a fashionista

A history of firsts in cystic fibrosis research at SickKids

Every day, Amanda pushes her limits to improve her quality of life. This could mean climbing just one more flight of stairs – which can sometimes leave her gasping for breath. Amanda has cystic fibrosis (CF), a condition that affects the lungs and the digestive system, making it tough to breathe. For her, every extra step is a big accomplishment.

One in every 3,600 children
born in Canada has cystic fibrosis

More than 20 years ago, scientists at SickKids discovered the gene responsible for CF. Since then, our CF Centre has produced many 'firsts' to help make this incurable condition more manageable. And it is the investments made by donors, such as Arnold and Lynn Irwin's commitment to CF education and research, that have helped make these 'firsts' possible.

We discovered that a high caloric diet can significantly improve the health and life expectancy of CF patients. We conducted the first genetic study to examine the ethnic makeup of the North American CF population, which demonstrated there is ethnic diversity among people with the disease. And, we developed two world-renowned databases which enable critical research and ongoing improvements in patient care.

Amanda knows a lot about what it takes to manage her condition. Diagnosed at age four, she was treated at SickKids until she turned 18. She's had a difficult path but, when it gets hard, she takes it in stride, one step at a time.

Justin Poy,
41 – three-time kidney transplant recipient

Out-of-the-box thinking drives regenerative medicine

Santa Claus never misses a stop on his route, and that includes SickKids. After undergoing a kidney transplant at the age of 15, Justin woke up in the Critical Care Unit to see Santa at the end of his bed. Memories like this make him look back at his SickKids experience so fondly.

The kidney program at SickKids is one of the busiest in North America with more than 800
kidney transplants performed to date

Justin has since undergone two more transplants as an adult. And because the life of a transplanted kidney is, on average, 10 to 15 years, he will likely require another transplant in the future.

A specialized group of SickKids researchers is hoping they can change that by using stem cells to repair and/or regenerate tissues, including kidneys.

While still a long way off, support from forward-looking donors is helping to turn this kind of out-of-the-box thinking into a life-changing reality. The Minto Foundation recently became one of those forward-thinking donors with a $1-million gift to the Transplant Centre.

In his adult life, Justin lets his creativity flourish as the owner of an ad agency with a passion for singing in his spare time. He works tirelessly to improve organ and tissue donation awareness and, this year, he is giving back to SickKids Foundation in a special way by joining its Board of Directors.

Jody Mooney,
35 – underwent surgery for a partially formed hip

I'm a SickKids kid and a refrigerator art curator

Making the long road to recovery shorter and easier

When Jody brought her eldest daughter Vanessa to see an orthopaedic specialist at SickKids, it brought back lots of memories. At 18 months old, Jody underwent surgery at SickKids for a partially formed hip socket. She spent long hours learning how to walk all over again.

Over a third of all SickKids patients need some form of rehabilitation

Rehabilitation touches a large number of patients recovering at SickKids. Our occupational therapists and physiotherapists manage close to 35,000 patient visits each year. Recently, thanks to $1 million from the Friends of Tie Domi, the rehabilitation facilities received a much-needed update. The bright and refreshing renovations were a welcome change from the aging 1950s design.

Rehabilitation often goes hand-in-hand with pain management on the road to recovery. Research has shown that well-managed pain is associated with faster recoveries, fewer complications and more efficient care. Many donors have invested in initiatives designed to limit, if not eliminate, patient pain across all areas of the Hospital.

Much to Jody's relief, the specialist at SickKids determined Vanessa did not require treatment. Still, it gives Jody peace of mind to know that capable hands will always be ready at SickKids to provide her two daughters with world-class care.

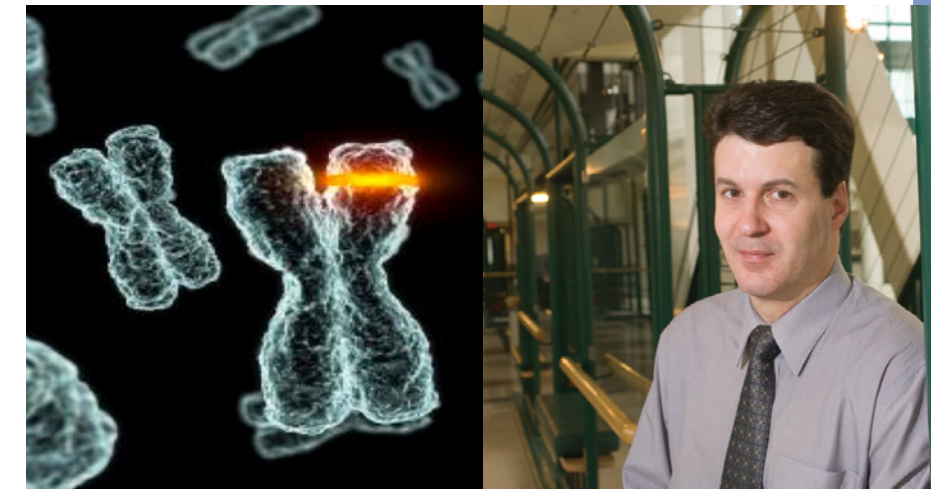

Cameron, 16,
and Thomas, 10
– brothers both diagnosed with autism

We're SickKids kids and junior researchers

Unlocking the mysteries of the human genome

For Valerie, discovering her son Cameron had autism spectrum disorder (ASD) gave her peace of mind. Valerie had struggled for more than two years to find out why her son was not hitting his developmental milestones. SickKids researchers provided a diagnosis and an early intervention plan for Cameron. Later, when Valerie's third son Thomas was also diagnosed with ASD, she knew SickKids research would help both her sons reach their full potential.

For every 100 children
diagnosed with autism, we can now identify a genetic cause in 15 kids

While long suspected, finding proof of a genetic link to autism has been difficult. Investments during the early days of research into the human genome allowed SickKids scientist Dr. Stephen Scherer and his team to develop technologies to perform the most advanced genome-scanning experiments in the world.

Dr. Scherer is now co-leader of an international research initiative, the Autism Genome Project, which has identified a genetic cause of autism in 15 per cent of all cases. This will help provide parents like Valerie with more answers in the form of diagnostics and treatments for this devastating disorder.

Today, Cameron and Thomas are helping to propel research into ASD by participating in research studies. With their help, we will discover the factors contributing to the remaining 85 per cent of cases.

Inseeya,
nine months
– in treatment
for cancer

I'm a SickKids kid and reaching my milestones

Diagnosed with infant leukemia shortly after birth, nine-month-old Inseeya has only ever known chemotherapy, checkups and needle pokes at SickKids. For her, they are just part of her routine.

At the forefront of cancer care and research

SickKids sees a new cancer patient almost every day

This year, cancer care and research at SickKids received a $30-million boost from the Garron family, which will impact patients like Inseeya. Believed to be the single largest private gift to paediatric cancer in North America, the gift established The Garron Family Cancer Centre.

This visionary donation will generate four new research chairs and two clinician-scientist positions at SickKids. It will fund innovative therapies and support the Cancer, Stem Cells & Regenerative Medicine neighbourhood at the new Research & Learning Tower, currently under construction. In addition, it will help construct one of the first metaiodobenzylguanidine (MIBG) suites at a Canadian children's hospital. This facility will revolutionize the way we can provide therapy to certain types of paediatric cancer.

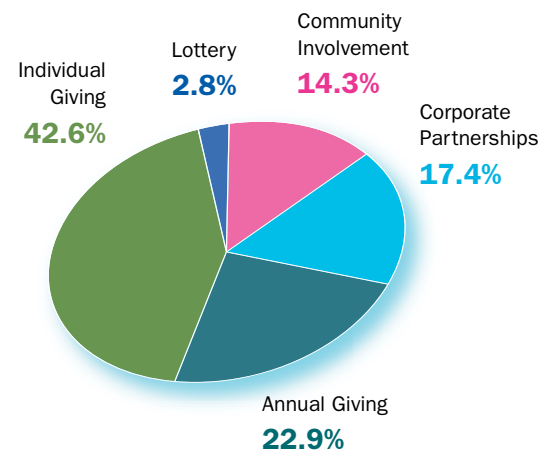

Happy and bubbly, Inseeya doesn't yet realize the scope of what she has faced. But because of gifts like the investment from the Garron family, SickKids will stay at the forefront of cancer care and research to help children like Inseeya live longer, more fulfilling lives.

report on investments for the year ended March 31, 2011

The endowment funds of SickKids Foundation provide an important base of funding for children's health research, learning and care at The Hospital for Sick Children. For the year ending March 31, 2011, the Foundation saw a 4.4 per cent increase in the value of its endowment fund to an all-time high of $610.8 million.

During the fiscal year ended March 31, 2011, $7.7 million of fundraising revenue was endowed, $7.1 million was recorded in investment earnings, $5.2 million transferred into the fund in accordance with Board Policy and a surplus of $6 million in general surplus was transferred to the Board-endowed funds.

Investment Management

The SickKids Foundation Board of Directors manages the Managed Investment Fund (MIF), with assistance from the Board's Investment Committee. All investment funds named or otherwise are invested into the MIF. The Investment Committee, which exercises care, skill, diligence and judgment, is tasked with monitoring the performance of the Investment Managers.

Thank you Patsy Anderson

A model for volunteer and philanthropic leadership

On June 14, 2011, Patsy Anderson presided over her last meeting as Chair of the SickKids Foundation Board of Directors. Her decade-long tenure on the Board – the last five as Chair – was a time of tremendous growth at SickKids. In her first year on the Board, the Foundation raised a total of $66.7 million. This year, the Foundation raised $106.8 million – a 60 per cent increase over a challenging economic period. Patsy and her husband Jamie have themselves generously contributed more than $1 million to SickKids. But her impact goes far beyond dollars raised.

Patsy has emerged as a model of volunteer and philanthropic leadership in Toronto and across the country. Her passion for SickKids over the years has been contagious. She often referred to serving on the Foundation Board as the "greatest honour" in the life of a volunteer. "We have the dream cause," she said. Her enthusiasm, coupled with the personal time and energy she has contributed to the Foundation, have been central to creating and nurturing the exciting momentum we are now experiencing.

As we say a heartfelt "thank you" to Patsy, we also remember that she is symbolic of the many tremendous volunteers and donors that we are privileged to work with at SickKids. We thank you all!

and current cancer patient

I'm a SickKids kid and Meatball's best friend

Zoë has a gentle touch with her new dog Meatball but knows how to be tough when he acts up. She would know a lot about being tough after years of treatment.

Born with a congenital heart defect, Zoë underwent a life-saving heart transplant at SickKids at eight months old. While it fixed her heart condition, she developed a type of cancer that can occur in patients on anti-rejection medication.

Now, Zoë's treatment is ongoing but she has her best friend Meatball by her side to help her through the process.

Go online to www.sickkidsfoundation.com/togive to see videos of Zoë and Meatball, as well as other SickKids kids.
